Good Times are fine, councilmen say, but they're costly.

KNBR should pay for Good Times

PLEASANTON, CALIFORNIA

PLEASANTON — Radio station KNBR should contribute to the city's share of the costs of the annual Good Times Roll Parade, two city council members believe. The radio station has written Mayor Robert Philcox that it wants to come back again next spring for a fourth annual Good Times Roll Parade if the city wants the

The mayor said he will consult with the Chamber of Commerce and the Jaycees, the two groups who have handled arrangements for the parade in the past. Philcox read the radio station's query at the council meeting last week and Council members William Herlihy and Frank Brandes took some exception to it.

The pair think it's all right to hold the parade, but the radio station should pick up the costs city taxpayers have had to bear, they said.

"I don't think the city should have any financial liability," Herlihy told The Times yesterday. "There is police overtime cost, public works overtime — the, have to put up street barricades and take them down - and you have to employ people to clean up the litter, which is

'I think it would be a fair trade if KNBR would pick up the costs. The Jaycees put in a fantastic amount of time organizing the parade and it is done at no cost to KNBR. It's profitable from KNBR's standpoint. The city should not have to assume a liability at a time of pressure on the local tax dollar," said Herlihy.

Twenty - four cities originally applied for the honor of having the Good Times Roll Parade four years ago. Is Herlihy afraid of losing the parade?

Community residents enjoy the parade, but light now the city has few sewer connections and really can't benefit from the publicity attendant on having the parade, complete with a live broadcast on a 50,000 watt radio station, said Herlihy.

And it creates headaches on parade day, for example splitting the city so that it's difficult for police and fire companies to respond to emergencies near the city's core, said Herlihy. He would not be sorry if KNBR took the parade elsewhere.

Last year's parade generated $7,000 in revenues for local youth Groups which sold parade concessions and 10 per cent of that went into the city's coffers, noted Brandes. However, he, too, is concerned that police and public works overtime expenses are too high and he thinks they ought to be subsidized by KNBR.

"We have to work with KNBR and come to a better financial arrangement," said Brandes. "The parade obviously is to their benefit, too. I'm glad KNBR is giving us notice now about the parade. It will give us a lot of lead time to work with it. I'm not opposed to a parade and we have plenty of time to work out whatever problems occur.

Brandes also wants recommendations from the police department about any possible problems connected with

The police department has complained about some rowdyism from youthful parade spectators in past years, but apparently there have been no serious repercussions from the parades. Isabelle Lemon, KNBR's manager of advertising and promotion, said the station has written to local officials about impacts of the parades and heard about only one incident. That involved a trailer which scraped an auto and the incident was resolved to everyone's satisfaction, said Lemon.

The station is agreeable to sitting down with the city and discussing costs of the parade, said Lemon. KNBR also is willing to negotiate a date. Last year's May 23rd date was disliked by Alameda County Fair Board offi-cials because it came close to their county fair parade in

Lemon said the station's financial involvement in the parade last year included paying a 4 - H group to clean up the street after the horses passed and the cost of the remote broadcast from the parade site to KNBR's listeners. The station also turned over its parade tee shirt sales to the girls' soccer program which kept $1,200 profits

The decision on whether to hold the parade will be up to the city, said Lemon. "We are not unmindful of the burden of the parade on the city. Any money decision would have to come from our general manager, Bill Dwyer." — by Ron McNicoll

City to add chief, assistant

PLEASANTON — The city council last night approved a $106,000 budget item earmarked for hiring two police officers, an assistant fire chief, and other changes which will result in more fire coverage.

The money came from an unexpected sales tax increase last year, although the expense will be in the budget permanently.

The package approved on a 4-1 vote includes hiring a permanent fire chief at a $34,00 annual cost to replace the acting chief, hiring an assistant chief at a cost of $31,000 and two police officers at a cost of

The plan will transfer three captains from standard office hours to shift duty giving the main station four and sometimes five men available for fire coverage. However, stations in Highland Oaks and Pleasanton Meadows will continue to have only two men on their

Councilman Frank Brandes voted $31,000 for an assistant fire chief should be spent to hire extra fire fighters in the neighborhood sta-

It was the same idea espoused by rank-and-file firemen, according to a report from city manager Bill Edgar. No firemen or any of the public in the audience last night were per-mitted to speak.

Citizen Jim McDermott interrupted the proceedings and tried to give his comments on the fire issue, but city attorney Ken Sheidig said that Mayor Robert Philcox did not have to recognize him.

McDermott, a San Francisco fire department officer who lives in Pleasanton, said he would return next Monday to speak on the issue under "matters open to the public."

Councilmembers William Herlihy and Joyce LeClaire spoke out in favor of hiring an assistant chief. Herlihy said that it is best to start at the top echelon when enlarging the department of public safety.

City manager Bill Edgar said that an assistant chief is needed because the new permanent chief would be away from the city at least 20 per cent of the time. Pleasanton's ar-rangements with other Bay Area fire departments dictate that amount of time away from the city, said Edgar.

Assistant city manager Alan Campbell said the strongest need for more manpower occurs at Station One. The downtown station handles 60 per cent of the city's fire calls, including most of the multiples, all of the old structures, many of the businesses and all of the large assembly

VCSD and pipeline

DUBLIN - Proposed amendments to the Livermore Amador Valley Water Management Joint Powers Agreement (LAVWMA) will be considered by the Valley Community Services District board of directors at a special meeting today at 4 p.m. in their general office conference

If the VCSD board and city councils of Pleasanton and Livermore agree, the joint powers agreement setting down LAVWMA guidelines would be amended to allow for a larger waste water disposal pipeline

'Gas, Food & Lodging?'

The last vestiges of county plans for a commercial "highway frontage" at the intersection of I-580 and I-680 in Dublin are about to fall. County planning commissioners and their staff agree the once heralded call for motels, hotels, gas stations and restuarants butting the freeway have been eroded by zoning changes.

And so do owners of the last vacant lot zoned to serve the motoring

Enea Enterprises and their realtor Jerry Lemm want the commission to change the zoning to allow for general commercial use. Lemm told commissioners yesterday it "doesn't appear there's going to be any more motels or hotels or gas stations," although he would not rule out the possibility of restaurants.

Prices going up

Watch out for higher food prices. The California Farm Bureau Federation says labor problems and bad weather jolted farmers this year, and will result in increases at the supermarket in 1977 Orchards were lost, according to reports, and cattlemen were forced to liquidate for lack of feed and pasture. A severe January freeze, and extended dry weather were damaging, according to the bureau.

Losses were as great as 25 per cent among some produce items, it was reported, and cattlemen suffered $460 million in setbacks. For details, see page 14.

Critically injured, he needs blood

PLEASANTON — Blood is urgently needed for a Pleasanton youth who is in critical condition at Washington Township Hospital, Fremont.

He is Steven Bruce Ramos, who will be 25 next week. A graduate of Amador High, Bruce had been on the school diving team. He recently moved to Fremont and was working for Bekins Moving and Storage in San Jose.

The accident happened as Bruce was driving his almost brand - new Datsun 280 Z in Fremont. Police say he apparently tried to pass another

Industrial plan gets tacit nod

Alameda County Bureau HAYWARD - Plans to beef up heavy industry in the quarry lands between Pleasanton and Livermore met with no objections from county planning commissioners yesterday,

•All truck traffic generated by Rhodes and Jamieson's proposed foundation beam casting opera-tion is confined to El Charro

•Commissioners review the operation in five years to insure "consistency" with the yet-produced reclamation plan for the quarry area; and

•The operation be "flood-proofed" against any danger from the theoretical "100-year flood," and landscaped "to be compatible with possible future excavation" in the area.

Specifically, Rhodes and Jamieson, one of the valley's "big four" gravel miners, wants to start casting foundation beams on a 15.6 acre site bordered by the Arroyo Mocho, El Charro Road, the SP and WP railway tracks and a private ranch road.

The land is slated for mining sometime after the turn of the century. They will need a casting area, storage yard and office building with parking, according to the planning department's report.

Planning commissioners will consider formal action in about a month.

Commission votes released

PLEASANTON - Phil Cooper and Sharon Kosch got the votes of all council members in their bids to be appointed to the Human Services Commission.

That was the information contained on a list of how each council member voted made public by Mayor Robert Philcox last week

The names of the five winning candidates — Cooper, Kosch, Bar-bara Hempill, Phyllis Bullock and Diana Leathers - were announced at the city counil meeting last week. But no motions were made and no vote votes taken on each individual member so there was no public record at the meeting about who voted Philcox asked the council members to submit their lists to him after the public interviews two weeks ago. All council members agreed to this City Attorney Ken Scheidig told The Times that although the Brown Act requires the appointments be made at a public meeting, there is no requirement for public discussion of the candidates. However, the council members had to indicate for whom they voted and the list in Philcox's possession is a public record, said Scheidig. Philcox was cooperative with The Times in allowing a reporter to research the list.

The list shows that Philcox voted for Leathers, Hempill, Kosch, Bullock and Cooper. Vice - mayor Joyce LeClaire voted for Hempill, Cooper, Kosch, Art Tenbrink, and Anna Councilman William Herlihy voted for Cooper, Leathers, Bullock, Kosch, and Tenbrink. Councilman Ken Mercer voted for Leathers, Cooper, Hempill, Kosch and Bullock and Councilman Frank Brandes cast his lot with Martinsen, Cooper, Hempill, Kosch and Bullock.

Bullock and Hempill had votes from four of the council members. Leathers had three votes and Martinsen and Tenbrink each got two.

Philcox said that having council members submit a list to him saved long discussion at the meeting. "We had a very full agenda last week. I didn't see any sense in sitting there and discussing the good points about who you would appoint," said Phil-

Philcox said he supports a resolu-tion by the League of California Cities which calls on the Legislature to amend the Brown Act so that appointments of commission members do not have to be discussed in public. He said he never supported making the appointments in public and feels that is is an invasion of the board candidate's privacy.

LeClaire agreed with Philcox. "Sometimes our reasons for not supporting an applicant can be painful. I personally would not like to air that in public," she said. "I don't think a disservice was done to the public in not discussing the Human Services Commission appointments," said LeClaire. "I feel those chosen were eminently qualified. I was deeply impressed with their qualifications. Brandes said he is "not opposed to executive session. There are some merits to it, namely not publicly embarrassing those who did not receive a vote from anyone. But the discussion needs to be carried forth after executive session. I think the public has a right to know why some people were supported. "If we have an executive session first, we can talk about peoples' negative qualities," said Brandes. "And when we talk about candidates in public, we can say why we are not supporting someone if we stick to issues, not personalities.

Contra Costa

business and private citizens a glimpse of the county

An overview of the profile indicates that government services to the public may be reduced in the coming months, due to increasing costs and rising population.

Trends highlighted within the book's 19 chapters are: Population: Decline in the rate of population growth and family size, increase in percentage of the elderly focuses attention on new needs in housing, health, education, transportation and land-use planning.

Building Activity: An upturn in building, particularly residential construction, signaling gradual recovery of the building industry from the recent recession. Land Use: Rising citizen concern for the effects of urban growth — less open space, more traffic and air

Environment: Continued work on air and water quality and recycling of solid wastes.

Criminal Justice: Growing concern about crime prevention, jail overcrowding, court backlogs and community help for troubled youths.

Education: New emphasis on discipline, career programs and improving basic skills in the 3-R's. Consumer Economy: Continuing inflation likely to affect elderly and low-income families, making more persons eligible for welfare programs. Housing: Costs shutting out low and middle - income families from home ownership. Deterioration, not now a serious problem, soon to be faced by owners of houses built at beginning of the county's rapid growth period. Human Services: Trends toward federal government picking up more of the tab on social services and toward giving cash grants to persons to persons to buy services they need.

Industry and Labor: Growth to continue in employment and the number of establishments.

Agriculture: Pressure of population growth and recreational needs likely to cut into prime agricultural land. Public Utilities: Growing energy demands to focus attention on conservation of natural resources. Transportation: Expansion of local bus service. More road congestion expected. The 1976 Profile will be on reserve by Dec. 1 in all county library branches and the Richmond public

THE DEADMAN-ALIVE

The El Rey Theatre on Main Street in Walnut Creek, with its art decco facade and strange murals of harlequins in the lobby, was the scene of my first meeting with the deadman-alive.

We had been allowed to see Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs and Fantasia there and now, due to some oversight on the part of our parents, my sister Carolyn and I, along with JoAnn - across - the - street, were allowed to see a movie about a tormented boy and his miserable dog named Biscuit Eater.

The scene is an eery, moss-laden swamp. The frightened little boy and his frowzy dog are half-running, half crawling along a narrow, rotting wooden pier into the swamp, trying to escape some now unremembered horror.

The only sounds piercing the steaming silence are the lapping of the black, alligator-ridden waters against the pier and the call of a demented waterbird. Up ahead is a dilapidated shack, perhaps the boy's only reprieve from the deadly water moccasins and alligators, or from falling from exhaustion into the murky waters. Finally the boy reaches the shack, scrapes away some dirt from the window and looks in. There inside the shack, were the blank eyeballs staring, the head swathed in rags, the skeleton-like arms outstretched, the wretched, snarling mouth. It was the deadman-alive!

He came out the door after the boy and grabbed him with those horrible, claw-like hands. I was on the edge of my seat, frozen with horror, but at that moment my sister, who was charged with my welfare at all times, clamped her hand over my eyes so that I couldn't see the boy's and poor Biscuit Eater's horrible fate.

I tried to break free, to see what was too horrible to see, but she was firm in her determination to protect me from such things, with the result that my imagination supplied probably a much worse fate for the poor boy and his dog than any the deadman-alive could have furnished them in

The deadman-alive was not called that in the movie. That was a name we made up to frighten ourselves with later. And frightening ourselves became an important part of our play from that

Whenever we were in our hide-out under the wooden footbridge which spanned the dry creek-bed in front of our house, there would be a stealthy footfall on the bridge, and we would all freeze and look at one another wide-eyed and excited, for there was no doubt who it was.

I could see him in my mind's eye, the thin figure, the head swathed in rags, the eyes with no irises or pupils, the dead look on the pale, greenish face, the menace who stalked thrugh my

We would stay frozen in that unspeaking, unmoving stance for what seemed like hours, waiting for the fearful creature to leave without finding us and finally, Carolyn, or would move or speak casually, and I would know the danger

And if the three of us were up in JoAnn's cherry tree, putting "make-up" made of smashed up cherries on our lips and cheeks, there were times we stopped, and felt that shiver of excitement, because one of us had heard a bluejay call a warning signal, as the waterbird had tried to warn the boy in the swamp.

Once on the school bus I looked up and sitting right in back of the bus driver was that dreaded figure, with his back to me. But I would have known him anywhere. The thought of passing close to him in order to get off the bus filled me with sheer terror.

Funny how seeing the deadman-alive was no fun when I was by myself, when it had been such fun with Carolyn and JoAnn-across-the-street. But now there seemed no alternative to getting off the school bus, so I held my breath and closed my eyes and when I got near the front of the bus, I opened them for just a second and no one was there but the bus driver. The deadman-alive had gotten off before me.

As I write this I think with amusement of the foibles of childhood, as the very real world confronts me, such as the mailman coming up to the door as he just did. Nothing is more real than the United States Postal Service. He is standing there at my front door right now. I see him through the curtain with his head swathed in rags, his blank eyeballs, his outreached claw-like hands ..No, it can't be. It's h-h-him. It's the deadman-alive

Shiatsu hits Livermore!

Forget Rolaids — exercise that index finger for relief

BY LUCY HOBGOOD-BROWN

Do you have heart trouble? You won't much longer if you exercise your little finger regularly! Or for those of you who suffer from weak stomachs, daily manual exercise of your index fingers should promote better health.

Skeptical? Thanks to the Anthropos Foundation, a non-profit organization that sponsors experiences in learning ranging from basic meditation to "how to be a mistress as well as a wife," an evening was given over to interested skeptics and a young man who practices this manual massage method that literally works Mountain Raley was introduced to Shiatsu (or finger pressure) a year ago by a Japanese expert. Since then he has adapted the technique to his own needs, which vary from normal fatigue and stiff shoulders to aching feet.

A driver of semi-tractor trailers, Mountain is Kentucky-bred and now lives in Oakland. He is just one of the many converts to Shiatsu in the United States and believes that the Japanese-inspired art "belongs to everybody. Anybody can do it.'

Shiatsu has proven itself a safe and speedy remedy for a wide range of disorders, according to Mountain, including high blood pressure, rheumatism and even bedwetting. The finger pressure technique combines instinct for a painful area with a systematic method of treating it.

mikoshi. In his book entitled "Shiatsu: Japanese Finger-Pressure Therapy," Namikoshi points out the danger of inexperienced persons treating seriously ill patients.

Namikoshi states that even after treating more than 100,000 patients in his Nippon Shiatsu School, he always consults a physician before beginning treatment on difficult cases. In his book, which is available in several Berkeley bookstores, the specialist also declares that Shiatsu can guard against cerebral hemorrhage, stomach disorders and even cancer.

While using the basic Shiatsu principles as a guide, Mountain believes that "everyone has their own method." He is a firm advocate of "pouring pure high energy" into aches, pains and tense knots. When asked how he knows where the real trouble is, he says, "I am receptive with my left hand and transmit energy with

A gentle touch of the fingertips at key points on the body (similar to basic acupuncture pressure points), rhythmic breathing and a deep concentration helps relieve the pain, claims Mountain, who says the pressure results in a 'good pain.'

While Mountain recommends that the "patient" lie down, Shiatsu can be performed on someone sitting or kneeling. "Get into imagin-ing that you're moving all his tension around," he says. "When you feel the energy flow on,

Mountain Raley uses concentration and light finger pressure to heal with Shiatsu.

Using digital compression, often applied with the balls of the thumbs, Shiatsu also relies on the mental attitude of the person undergoing treatment to stimulate enough power to prevent

In order to assist the working parents at both schools because of the inconvenience they are experiencing due to the double sessions as a result of the fire at Armstrong, the San Ramon Valley Unified School District and the Valley Community Services District will jointly sponsor a recreation program.

The program will offer two sessions; one from 8:30 a.m. to 12:20 p.m. for Armstrong students and the second session from 12:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. for Walt Disney students.

The day care center will open Dec. 13 and operate on a regular school week basis providing a variety of recreational activities, according to Tom Hanson, Community Services Director. "We will offer as many activities, recreational and allow us," he said. "The main thing is to provide activities for the students before and after school hours.'

The school district and the Community Services District will staff the day care center with a director, an assistant, and a second one if necessary. A fee of $1 per day per child will be charged to offset program costs. Priorities have been established for accepting children into the program. Children from a family with only one parent, and if that parent works, will be first priority. Priority will also be given to students from families in which both parents work.

The program will be available until the regular school session reopens at Neil Armstrong or until June 10. Registration for the program will be held Saturday, Dec. 4, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the porta-each had two goals while Granada scored four times in the second half to post a 5-2 win over visiting Memorial yesterday in the Mats' final pre - season tuneup.

Granada entertains Livermore today at 3 p.m. in the first East Bay Athletic League contest of the year. Other games will see Foothill at Dublin, Amador Valley at Monte Vista and San Ramon at California. All matches start at 3 p.m.

After a first half where the Mats were slightly outplayed by the Newark School, Granada attacked Memorial goalies John Cleveland and Randy Cinco in the second half to break a 1-1 intermission tie.

The Mats, who scored in the first half on Igbal's left-footed tap past Cleveland on Kurt Honodel's assist from ten yards out, battered 14 shots on goal in the second half, compared to only four in the initial half.

Memorial whipped eight shots on goal in the first half, but didn't overcome Granada's 1-0 deficit until Joe Pimentel took a pass from Don tender Gary Lamb. The goal, scored the Mats a 4-1 lead.

Shannon Estill and Manzar Iqbal just three minutes after Iqbal's shot, caught the far-right corner of the net and slipped in. Despite the first-half doldrums, Granada coach Bill Coupe wasn't worried about his team's performance. "What we were concerned with was keeping then from coming real close to scoring," Coupe explained. With the exception of the penalty kick, Memorial shot only two shots that reached Lamb.

The second half saw a much more aggressive effort from the Matador offense and defense, with Estill getting his first goal on a direct penalty kick 20 minutes into the half to give Granada a 2-1 lead. Estill pushed the ball through the right side of the goal on a ground shot, the Memorial goalie failing to make a move.

Five minutes later, Iqbal picked up his second goal after Granada's Steve D'Ambra failed to beat Cleveland one-on-one. Iqbal toed the rebound and kicked it by the out of position goaltender.

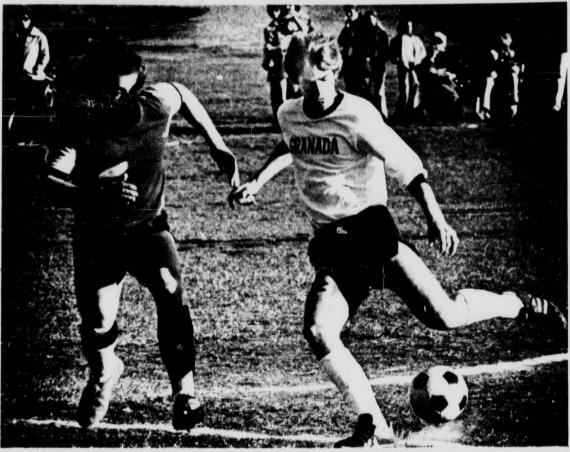

Estill garnered his second goal with over a minute to play on a 15-yard Aguiar on 8 penalty kick and booted it shot off an assist from Kevin Burke. over the entire Granada defense lined Cinco committed himself too early up in the goalie cage to support goal- and lost the angle on the ball, giving Ilidio Silva gave Memorial a goal on a head shot with just 40 seconds left in the game, while Granada came rightback seconds before the final whistle on Gary Bannister's unassisted breakaway from 25 yards to complete the scoring.

Coupe praised the efforts of Estill and Iqbal. "That's the best they've played thus far this season," he commented. "I thought that Bob Foster and Jim Lennon played extremely well," he added, lauding the hustling

Coupe may face the Cowboys today without the services of D'Ambra and Mike Fields after both players were injured in yesterday's tilt. Fields hurt his ankle in the first half, while D'Ambra bruised his hip late in the game. The extent of the injuries were Coupe admitted the loss of Fields and D'Ambra might hurt the Mats in today's game with the 'Pokes. "It sure will," he replied. D'Ambra was agressive on offense while Fields, who started the game, limped off the field under his own power after agitating his right ankle.

Granada's Kevin Burke readies to kick the ball as Memorial defender approaches by Brian Martin in yesterday's 5-2 Granada win.

Bell heads AP all-West Coast

LOS ANGELES — Rickev Bell, the bruising running back from Rose Bowl bound Southern California, heads a list of six first-team repeaters to the 1976 Associated Press All-West Coast football team announced today.

The 6-foot-2, 220-pound Bell, despite injuries which forced him to miss part of the season, rushed for 1,417 yards to bring his three-year total to 3,673.

His running mate in the All - Coast backfield is UCLA sophomore Theotis Brown, the hardrunning 215-pounder who helped UCLA to a 9-1-1 record in the regular season and a berth in the Dec. 20 Liberty

And the all-Coast quarterback, in one of the closest votings ever, was Jeff Dankworth, the quick reacting pilot of UCLA's complex Veer-T attack. Dankworth, a senior, nosed out Washington State's pass-minded Jack Thompson; a junior who was rated only No. 2 on his own team when the season started. Others getting votes for the quarterback spot were Guy Benjamin of Stanford and Joe Roth of California. Roth was the second - team all-coast quarterback last year, but was injured part of 1976.

Besides Bell, others making it back to the first team from the 1975 squad included three Stanford players-wide receiver Tony Hill, offensive guard Alex Karakozoff and defensive end Duncan McColl; and two more Trojans, offensive tackle Marvin Powell and defensive tackle Gary Jeter.

Seven Trojans were named to the first team, either offense or defense.

Holiday classic

Mitch Haroldson had four saves in goal for the winners while the Tartans' Paul Romero collected 10. Mike Merrill, Saul Flores, Mike Lemm, Richie Rollins and Brandon Baxter led the way on defense for the winners while David Morris and Greg Corbett also played well.

Brian Warman, Woody Woodard, Scott Stanko, Marty Farris, Scott Prunea, Matt Bowe, Nicky Pearson and Romero also played well, for

The under-10 final proved once and for all that Ballistic United and the Livermore Clippers are evenly matched. In regular season play, the clubs split a pair of 4-1 games. Then in a play-off for the league title, Ballistic won 2-1. Sunday, Livermore came out on top, 2-1 to win the Holiday corwn. Darren Lee scored both goals, off assists from Vince Martinez and Eric Woods. Goalie Jeff

O'Connor had four saves. Clipper midfielders Ken Petlansky, Vince Martinez and John Havlik controlled the game for the winners while Tim McFaddin, Mike Foscalina and Steve Duncan played well at fullback. In the under-8 final, the third straight between two Ballistic sides, was decided by penalty kicks after regulation play had ended in a 1-1 tie. The Ballistic Eagles won the post-curricular contest to get the win over the Ensigns. Kevin Harris scored the Eagle goal after a pass from Chad Karsting while Vince Remund made the losers' goal. Joe Mellin of the Eagles and opposite number Brad Letak each had two saves in goal. Darrin Niethammer, Brian Peden, Bobby Reasoner, David Hall and Steve Johnson were the top Eagle players while the Ensigns' Bill Gabler, Bill Walburg, Doug Gray and Dave Thompson stood out.

The tournament, burdened with the largest number of teams ever, 48, was a huge success, according to director Harry Miller.

"Everything went as smooth as clockwork," he said. "Usually, people say, 'Well, it was a good tournament, but why don't you do it this "We didn't hear any of that this time."

pass one exhibition game on each continent and will conclude with a farewell match in America with Pele's only other team -Santos of Brazil. He will play the first half in a Cosmos uniform and then will play the final half of his career in the jersey of Santos.

"Pele said goodbye to Brazil in 1974," remarked Toye. "The Cosmos' tour will give him a chance to say goodbye to the entire world. Pele really does belong to the world and I think that our planned trip will be a fitting farewell to a legendary career.'

Destinations for Flight #10 will not be finalized until 1977, but organizational work is being done now. Pele has been invited to serve as an advisor to the Brazilian National team during the 1978 World Cup games, and he is presently considering that offer. He will not play in the World Cup matches, however.

Inflation fighting business

SAN RAMON — A fight against inflation is being made in the valley by Awaken To Savings, Inc. (ATS) through the utilization of discount services from business people for ATS members.

The newly - formed corporation is owned and operated by John Galpin and Larry Orthmann. Presently, their office is located in San Ramon in care of P.O. Box 126.

There is an annual fee for belonging to this specialized buying association. It entitles members to receive discounts from participating merchants.

The member gets a coded identification card and a copy of a publication listing involved merchants. This publication is printed quarterly. These two items are received within 30 days of receipt of an Awaken To Savings

Members and merchants are required to sign an ATS

"We are covering every facet of people's lifestyle — car, home, appearance, sports, travel, fun," said Galpin. 'We have 40 or so businesses signed up between here and Lake Tahoe.

Galpin said their corporation had statewide involvement now and they hope to expand nationwide.

"So far, we have about 150 members," he said. Their service provides a dual purpose, according to 'The business people get good advertising and promotion coverage in our publication and the customers receive excellent discount benefits.

The ATS officials contend that middle - income Americans now spend more in taxes than they do for food, housing, utilities, transportation or recreation. There are cushions like welfare for the poor and tax advantages for the rich, according to this San Ramon - based

Student reps to gather

The Third Annual Student Representative Symposium responsibilities, school finance and the role of the stufor student representatives to local boards of education will be held at San Diego's Little America Westgate Hotel Friday.

The meet will be in conjunction with a meeting of two other major California educational associations.

Joanne Morris, student representative to the California State Board of Education, said school districts should encourage student representatives to attend the meeting, which will feature seminars on student rights and
